CUSTOMSEMPLOYEES
ASK FINGER IN PIE

Demand for representation at conferences of Federal commissions and boards appointed by the Treasury Department to study questions affecting their wages and working conditions have been made by Customs employees of the Treasury in a protest to the Federation of Federal Employees.

The customs employees' demands are in line with the "open door" policy. They say they are entitled to be represented when questions are considered affecting their welfare.

In their protest to the federation, the employees declare against the operation of existing efficiency commission personnel boards, and other bodies, under whose jurisdiction the question of their wages, working conditions, and problems are affected.

They assert that Congress has recognized the principle of collective bargaining in the creation of the Congressional Classification Commission, which is now making a study of working conditions of Federal employees in Washington, and feel they should receive the same consideration.

It is stated that the Economy Commission, created by the Treasury Department, will shortly send out questionnaire cards to each of the Customs employees of the Treasury, having for its object the reclassification of these employees. The customs people are to demand they be represented on the commission, that committees appointed consist of one of their number to participate and make recommendations in the reclassification of salaries.

Let the Wedding Bells Ring Out

$10,000,000 DRIVE
TO BEGIN MONDAY

The campaign to raise $10,000,000 to erect the National Victory Memorial Building on land granted to the George Washington Memorial Association by Congress, will begin Monday. A committee of prominent Washington women met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, 1301 Sixteenth street northwest, and perfected campaign plans.

Speakers emphasized that the campaign will be a national undertaking and the proposed building will be of great material as well as artistic benefit to Washington.

Describe Building.
Mrs. Henry F. Dimock described the building from the architect's plans. She said it will include a public auditorium which Washingtonians can use for public conventions and forum meetings.

"We aim to have a building," said Mrs. Dimock, "which will contain relics and documents of the world war which will be greatly prized in the future years. In the auditorium it is planned to have a large pipe organ and hold musical services. Community opera can also be held in this building. It will be strictly a people's affair."

"Fifty-five thousand school children have already contributed to this campaign fund. We hope to start the building next fall."

Madame Grouitch, wife of the minister from Serbia, said it is her ambition to see a building in Washington which will be a proper memorial to those who took part in the war.

History of Parthenon.
Madame Grouitch outlined the history of the building of the Parthenon, and Miss Sarah O'Neill, Mrs. Robert A. Dunn, of Charlotte, N. C., was a guest.

Before the meeting Mrs. Dimock conferred with representatives of the American Civic Association appointed to co-operate with the George Washington Memorial Association in raising the building fund. They were Henry B. T. Macfarland, the Rev. Charles Wood, George Burrage, Mrs. S. E. Elkins, Miss Bonnie Kibbey, and Miss E. E. Marshall, secretary of the association.

LOCKED UP FOR SARCASM.
LONGSHOREMAN ENDS LIFE

NEW YORK, June 28.—After having been robbed by three sailors in a saloon in Jersey City and then locked up for ten days for being sarcastic to the policeman to whom he reported the robbery, Charles Johnson, a longshoreman, forty-four years old, of Brooklyn, shot and killed himself, according to his wife, Elizabeth.

Johnson went to Jersey City about twelve days ago to look for work. His wife said, and when he returned that night he told her he had been striking with the sailors, who, when he was asleep, robbed him of $40, all his savings. When he reported the matter to a policeman he was advised to go home first and make up his mind. He did so, but when he came back he was locked up for ten days.
